Each week you should complete short notes or diary about your college work. It will help you plan what needs to happen next and reflect on your progress.

Guidance points:

What are the main things you planned to do this week? (this can include research)

What did you actually manage to get done?

What went well? What are you pleased with? What will you need to change or improve?

Who did you work with? How do you work together?

Overall summary - key points from the week, and what you need to do next.

This week's focus was on completing my practice video, designing the logo for my personal page within the MET Connect website as well as typing up the research I did by listening to a different radio station and uploading photos of my journey so far.

It was nice to finally finish my practice video, although I do hope that any future interviews are of a better standard, allowing more time for cutting after I have filmed them will hopefully achieve this.

Allowing my creative juices to flow whilst creating my logo allowed me to experiment with different ideas; however, creating the final product on Adobe Illustrator was harder than I expected it to be. I like my final product, even if it took me longer than I first planned and feel that the time was worth it. Using www.nounproject.co.uk allowed it to be done quicker on what i think was the 7th attempt of creation, as well as it becoming a better standard. From now on I think that I will search noun project for my images before I search anywhere else. Uploading my images and typing up my radio station analysis caused no issues and were done quicker than I thought they would. I would like to try a different way of showing my images in the future.
