

Dear Sir/Madam,

My name is Scott Crowter and I am a second year student at Greater Brighton Metropolitan College studying Festival and Event Management.

For our latest project we are creating a culture channel that we have called MET Connect, and each have a page to create. I decided to focus on Women in Sport and create a discussion podcast in which I talk with players and background staff about big topics that are currently surrounding their sport (such as VAR and the gender pay gap).

I was wondering if any of your players or female background staff would like to be involved?

The only conditions are that they have access to Zencastr.com.

No pictures are needed and everything is done online, so it is all covid friendly.

If anyone would like to be involved they can either use this email or my mobile.

Thank you for your time,

Scott Crowter
